Competitor	Australian Moulding charges a $200/arc setup fee

Who buys & how

Joiners and builders with arched doorways / curved-head windows. Low volume but the biggest tickets - and a competitor charges a per-arc setup fee we can undercut. Worth a targeted push, not parking.

Their words (use these verbatim in copy)

- curved architraves and straight architraves
- match close or similar to the design
- ball park how much... inc material
- 60mm wide not 67mm, on 18mm MDF
- the arch's in the drawing
- MR MDF

What they ask

- Ball-park cost, inc material?
- Would you be able to match my profile/design?
- Turnaround?

The angle to lead with

Lead on 'match your profile + no per-arc setup fee + fast ball-park'. Position as the easy, no-setup-fee way to get curved trim to spec.

Copy notes

Hero line

"Curved and arched architraves, cut to your profile - MDF or solid timber. Send your drawing, we'll match it."

Headline options (each passes Urgent-Unique-Specific-Useful)

"Arched doorway? We cut the architrave to your radius - no $200-an-arc setup fee."

"Curved architraves, cut to your profile. Ball-park price back fast."

"Send the arch, get it cut. Curved and straight architraves, matched to your design."

"Bending MDF around an arch never comes up clean. Send the drawing - we cut it to your profile."

Lead paragraph (landing / ad)

Curved or arched architraves are the fiddly bit - bending and laminating by hand rarely comes up clean. Send your drawing and profile and we'll cut them to your radius in MDF or solid timber, matched to your design. No per-arc setup fee. Straight lengths in the same order, sorted.

Answering their questions

- Ball-park inc material? - Yes.
- Match my profile/design? - Yes, send the drawing.
- Turnaround? - ~2 weeks (from a real quote).

Note for decisions

Low volume, high value - a $3.6k single job exists. Worth a small targeted campaign (arched-doorway / curved-head keywords) rather than parking it. The no-setup-fee angle is the wedge vs the incumbent.
